The Big Picture

When you think about long-term care, what picture comes to mind? Do you think of a nursing home or depending on family members to take care of you? This is a common perception and sometimes the only image of what people associate with long-term care. However, long-term care is comprised of the following care services:¹

- Home Care
- Home Health Aide and personal care
- Homemaker Services
- Chore Services
- Nurse and Therapist
- Respite Care
- Adult Day Care
- Assisted Living Facility
- Bed Reservation
- Nursing Home Facility
- Hospice Care

The Need

At some point over the age of 65, 70% of people will need some form of long-term care.² To qualify for long-term care benefits you must be certified by a licensed health care practitioner as chronically ill, which means you are seriously cognitively impaired or being unable to perform at least two of the six Activities of Daily Living (ADLs).^{3,4}

- Eating
- Bathing
- Transferring
- Dressing
- Toileting
- Continence

The Payment Options

Long-term care services may be very expensive and may quickly drain a person's savings and investments. There are several ways to pay for the costs of long-term care:

If a person chooses to pay for long-term care from personal savings and investments, which account would that person use first and would that person be willing to potentially deplete all of the accounts to pay for long-term care?

ForeCareSM Fixed Annuity

76% of non-qualified fixed annuity owners plan to use their annuity to fund a long-term care liability.¹⁰ Because ForeCare is a fixed annuity, it provides tax-deferral on interest credited to the account, access to the account value through withdrawals or income payout options, and any remaining contract value at death will pass directly to beneficiaries as a death benefit. However, if a person insured with ForeCare is unable to independently perform two of the six common Activities of Daily Living,³ ForeCare may provide the following enhanced benefits:

- Double or triple the contract value available for qualified long-term care expenses (eligibility and multiple is determined through underwriting)¹¹
- Income-tax free withdrawals for qualified long-term care expenses

³ There is an elimination period of 90 days of covered care within 270 consecutive days. The elimination period is waived for home health care with a qualifying plan of care.

⁴ Covered Long-Term Care Services must be provided pursuant to a written Plan of Care that 1) was submitted by a Licensed Health Care Practitioner, and 2) has been approved by Forethought Life Insurance Company.

⁵ There are a multitude of different products that may be accessed for retirement income needs. For example, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and variable annuities are securities and have different risk/reward characteristics, liquidity properties and tax consequences, particularly when compared to products such as CDs, savings accounts, money market accounts, fixed annuities and fixed index annuities. Certificate of Deposits (CDs) are bank products that are FDIC insured. Money Market funds are securities and are not FDIC insured and although these funds seek to preserve the value of an investment at $1.00 per share, there is no guarantee they will maintain this value.

¹¹ The ForeCare Multiplier provides two or three times (depending on underwriting eligibility) the amount of contract value in long-term care coverage to spend on qualified long-term care expenses. Benefits are subject to a maximum monthly benefit. The additional coverage in excess of the Contract Value is only available to use for a qualified long-term care benefit and will not become part of the contract value or the death benefit. Withdrawals, other than for qualified long-term care expenses, will adversely affect the amount of coverage for long-term care benefits in the future.
